

CAQH Practice Administrator Module Additional Terms

CAQH uses the Practice Administrator Module as a tool for the collection of credentialing data, and acts as such an agent on behalf of certain health plans, hospitals and other healthcare organizations in the collection of such data. CAQH may also use its own agents in performing such data collection, and such agents are subject to confidentiality obligations restricting their use of your data consistent with this Privacy Policy.

Providers using this website can only transmit their data to health plans, hospitals and other healthcare organizations with which they are already contracted or are in the process of contracting. Using the CAQH Universal Credentialing DataSource does not grant participation or constitute application for participation with these organizations. If you seek to participate with any of these organizations as a provider, you must first contact the organization(s) directly to request a participation contract.

CAQH will only share your Personal Information with health plans, hospitals and other healthcare organizations to which you affirmatively give access on the authorization section of the Online Application System website. The use of your Personal Information by such organizations is the subject of a separate agreement between you and the organizations. CAQH and its agents may also use aggregated demographic information for their internal business purposes but will not use or disclose any Personal Information other than as necessary to provide the credentialing services through the Universal Credentialing DataSource. CAQH will not otherwise share any of your Personal Information with any third party.

You may authorize your practice administrators to input information for you through the Practice Administrator Module. You will be responsible for verifying all information entered on your behalf through the Practice Administrator Module before you import that information into your records in the Online Application System. CAQH does not perform any independent verification of data entered through the Practice Administrator Module, nor will CAQH import that information into your record for you. You are responsible for the use and maintenance of your usernames and passwords.
